

Know Your Rights, Know Your Reality

LEGAL DISCLAIMER: This is not intended as a substitute for legal advice. You should always consult a lawyer for advice specific to your individual case.

Logistics

What to bring:

- Identification
- Medication
- Snacks, water, comfortable shoes
- Phone - lock your phone with a strong passcode, not fingerprint or facial recognition

What NOT to bring:

- Consult LAMC 55.07 which provides a list of prohibited items at a protest (violation of this ordinance may result in a misdemeanor charge)
- Lasers and strobe lights
- Anything that could be considered a weapon
- Personal items you do not need

Plans for possible arrest:

- Write down phone numbers of people to call post-arrest somewhere on your body
- Set up a bail plan
- Set up a ride home from jail/police station
- Connect with Jail Support: @jailsupportla

During the Protest:

- Document incidents of police misconduct
 - You have an express right to record police under the First Amendment and California Penal Code 148 (g)
 - Maintain a safe distance from police so you are not interfering
 - Hold phone horizontally while filming
- Document names and badge numbers of officers that engage in illegal behavior
- Note if police provided a clear dispersal order
- Note if police provided clear exit pathways

Special considerations:

- Past arrests - there are risks associated with getting arrested especially if you have a prior arrest or criminal record, outstanding warrants, unpaid traffic tickets, or are currently on parole or probation
- Immigration status - certain offenses can trigger immigration consequences
- Medication - if arrested, you may go without medication for an extended period of time; you cannot bring medication into jail
- Health Conditions - consider if you have a health condition that makes it difficult to comply with police commands
- Minors - a parent/guardian must pick you up if arrested
- Gender identity - police often do not respect non-cis gender identities during an arrest, search, or jail booking
- Employment - In CA, employers cannot ask about criminal history before making a conditional job offer & they can only review arrest records that resulted in a conviction or if a trial is pending. For more info visit <http://bit.ly/fairchancelaw>

Post-Protest:

- Photo document any injuries you have
- Fill out the MDC's intake form to be connected with legal resources and support at tinyurl.com/NLGLAMDC
- Check out the MDC's arrestee FAQ for additional information and resources at tinyurl.com/NLGarrest
- Go to your court date to avoid a warrant!!!

Presented by:
National Lawyers Guild Los Angeles
Mass Defense Committee

Know Your Rights, Know Your Reality

LEGAL DISCLAIMER: This is not intended as a substitute for legal advice. You should always consult a lawyer for advice specific to your individual case.

Common Protest Charges

Infractions & Traffic Violations: You can receive a maximum fine of $250 but will not be sentenced to jail time or probation. You are not entitled to a public defender. Failing to appear in court can be a misdemeanor and lead to arrest.

Misdemeanors: Protesters are often cited and released at the location of arrest for low level misdemeanors. You can be sentenced up to one year in jail and have to pay fines. You will be entitled to a public defender.

Common Protest Misdemeanor Charges Include:

- PC 405 participating in a riot
- PC 407 unlawful assembly
- PC 409 failure to disperse
 - Dispersal orders must be audible and police must give protesters adequate time and pathways to leave
 - An unlawful dispersal order can be a defense to this charge
- PC 602(m) trespassing
- PC 148(a) resisting arrest/obstructing/delaying officer
 - Almost any movement can be considered resisting
 - Going limp can be considered resisting
 - There does not need to be an underlying offense that you are being arrested for
- PC 243 (b) & (c) battery on a peace officer
 - Any touching, even placing a finger on an officer or accidentally falling on an officer, can be considered battery on a peace officer

Felonies: You can be sentenced to over one year in prison. You will be entitled to a public defender.

Common Felony Protest Charges Include:

- PC 405a attempting to free a person from arrest
 - This charge is difficult to defend against. If you want to help someone who is being arrested, document/film the arrest and get their name and birthdate (which is used to locate the person after arrest)
- Offenses involving violence, vandalism, or arson

Wobblers: Can be charged as a misdemeanor or felony.

- PC 245 (a)(1) assault with a deadly weapon
 - Almost anything can be considered a weapon
 - LAPD commonly cite lasers and lights as weapons
 - Picking up or moving police munitions such as tear gas canisters can be considered ADW

Presented by:
National Lawyers Guild Los Angeles
Mass Defense Committee

Know Your Rights, Know Your Reality

LEGAL DISCLAIMER: This is not intended as a substitute for legal advice. You should always consult a lawyer for advice specific to your individual case.

Rights in Police Interactions

Consensual Encounter: Officer initiates conversation, does not involve commands or force

You have the right to:

- Walk away
- Refuse to identify yourself
- Tell the officer you do not wish to speak to them
- Say no to a request for a search

Detention: Not free to leave but not officially under arrest, the police must have reasonable suspicion

You have the right to:

- Tell the officer you do not wish to speak to them ("I want to remain silent.")
- Refuse to consent to a search beyond a frisk when there is no probable cause ("I do not consent to this search.")

You DO NOT have the right to:

- Walk away
- Refuse to identify yourself
- Refuse a frisk of the outside of your clothes

Arrest: Physically restrained and not free to leave, requires probable cause

You have the right to:

- Remain silent "I don't want to answer questions, I want a lawyer."
- Refuse to provide personal information beyond what is on your license (ex. email or SSN)
- Make three phone calls if booked into jail

You DO NOT have the right to:

- Refuse a search of your person or belongings
- Be searched by an officer of a specific gender

When Cops Show Up To Your home: You do not have to let police into your home unless they present a valid search warrant

- Ask to see the warrant through a window
- Step outside of your home, do not let officers step inside without a warrant
- You have the right to remain silent "I don't want to answer questions, I want a lawyer"

The police:

- Can search you and your belongings
- Do not have to read Miranda Rights until they question you
- Can (and will) lie to you when questioning you
- Use undercover officers to seek information from you in a jail or police station

Filming the Police: You have the right to photograph and film police in public

- Keep a safe distance
- Police cannot demand to see photos/videos without a warrant
- Police cannot delete your photos/videos

REMEMBER: YOU DO NOT HAVE TO ANSWER QUESTIONS FROM POLICE, ANYTHING YOU SAY CAN BE USED AGAINST YOU

Presented by:
National Lawyers Guild Los Angeles
Mass Defense Committee

